Team-below is a draft statement. Pending what Rachel and Bob work out, we may want to add those sentences to it. Please double check that I've accurately captured our discussion.

EPA Region 5 Statement on Flint, Michigan:

In February, EPA Region 5 notified Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) of a potential issue with lead in the Flint drinking water system. The region dispatched one of its nationwide lead experts to further investigate the extent of the problem. Once EPA became aware the problem was larger than first expected, the region requested additional lead experts from the EPA Office of Research and Development. Those lead experts traveled to Flint and provided technical expertise to the city and MDEQ. Additionally, EPA Region 5 has established the Flint Safe Drinking Water Task Force to provide the Agency's technical expertise through regular conversations with designated officials from MDEQ and the City of Flint. EPA remains committed to working with our state and local partners to ensure a safe and reliable drinking water supply for the residents of Flint, Michigan.

Purpose: Official close out of the Feds Feed Families ceremony

Role of the Administrator: Thank attendees for participating in the campaign and announce the final goal for what was collected

Background: Launched in 2009 as part of President Obama's United We Serve campaign, Feds Feed Families is designed to help food banks and pantries stay stocked during summer months when they traditionally see a decrease in donations and an increase in need.

Is the meeting urgent and if so, why? The campaign officially ends on September 29 for EPA and we need to conclude the campaign and announce the amount collected soon after the close.

Requested Time Length: 10-15 minutes from

EPA Staff (Required): EPA employees (the Green Room has been reserved)

Subject: DC Water event invitation - 10/7

Hi Arian,

On behalf of DC Water, I am writing to invite Administrator McCarthy to participate in the ribbon cutting for our innovative thermal hydrolysis and anaerobic digestion project on October 7th at 11am at our Blue Plains facility. This $470 million sustainable recycling project creates heat and power from the solids left over at the end of the wastewater treatment process. We believe this project is a great example of the energy innovation encouraged by EPA and the Obama Administration.

DC Water spent years researching the CAMBI thermal hydrolysis system and is the first facility in North America to use the technology. Using high heat and pressure, like a pressure cooker, weakens the cell walls of the organic matter, making it more accessible for bacteria to consume during anaerobic digestion. The bacteria produce methane which is captured to create electricity to help power the treatment plant (enough energy to power 8,000 homes). In addition, the high heat and pressure will kill any pathogens in the solids, creating a "Class A" biosolid, clean enough to use as a fertilizer. DC Water will save millions from the power generated and by keeping the fertilizer local. We have received significant media coverage on the project and an in-depth article from the Washington Post can be found here <https://www.washingtonpost.com/local/trafficandcommuting/from-toilet-to-turbine/2014/04/05/9dc0e49e-bd26-11e3-bcec-b71ee10e9bc3_graphic.html> .

Visuals for the event will include four 80 feet high and 120 feet in diameter digesters and shiny thermal hydrolysis vessels (see invite photo below). We are inviting local and federal officials to participate in the ribbon cutting and would love to have the Administrator participate in our celebration. Please let me know if you need any additional details on the event and thanks for the consideration.

Best,

Will Pickering

Subject: Many Thanks For An Outstanding Program

Dear Stan,

Thank you so much for meeting with the members of TALC, MAC, and RIC last Tuesday. For the past week I have been fielding comments from my members in attendance about what a productive and enjoyable session they thought it was, and how they are very much looking forward to working with you and the EPA in 2015 and beyond.

I hope that you and your colleagues also benefited from having so many different sectors gathered in one place; giving you organized and focused concerns. Hopefully, such events allow public servants at EPA to cover a lot of ground in a very limited time. Dealing with issues at an early stage prevents larger ones later.

As inaction grips the Capitol, regulatory activities become increasingly important. I hope that we may continue to work together to play a positive, if modest, role in helping EPA, you and your team in advancing environmental progress in America.

I would also like to extend a thanks to the intelligent, courteous, and ever helpful Amir Ingram, who worked with my office to schedule our session. He is a prince among men!

Thanks again Stan, and I look forward to many more productive meetings between the EPA, you, and business community. If there is anything that I can do to assist you, please do not hesitate to contact me. You are a public servant in the Al Alm tradition.

Best regards,

Wayne Valis

Upon further reflection, since both stories have already run tonight, I suggest we hold on a statement and regroup in the morning. Could the region take the lead on setting up the call? Please include everyone on this email chain. Thanks! Melissa

Subject: Draft Flint statement

Team-below is a draft statement. Pending what Rachel and Bob work out, we may want to add those sentences to it. Please double check that I've accurately captured our discussion.

EPA Region 5 Statement on Flint, Michigan:

In February, EPA Region 5 notified Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) of a potential issue with lead in the Flint drinking water system. The region dispatched one of its nationwide lead experts to further investigate the extent of the problem. Once EPA became aware the problem was larger than first expected, the region requested additional lead experts from the EPA Office of Research and Development. Those lead experts traveled to Flint and provided technical expertise to the city and MDEQ. Additionally, EPA Region 5 has established the Flint Safe Drinking Water Task Force to provide the Agency's technical expertise through regular conversations with designated officials from MDEQ and the City of Flint. EPA remains committed to working with our state and local partners to ensure a safe and reliable drinking water supply for the residents of Flint, Michigan.
